

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Free greetings!

Grupo Texto Livre invites everyone to the XVI International Congress on Language and Online Technology (CILTec-Online). The event will take place from November 17 to 19, of 2023 with the support of the Faculty of Letters / Federal University of Minas Gerais (UFMG) and the SEMIOTEC Laboratory based at the Institution.

The Congress has invited conferences and forums. Activities are completely online, with asynchronous moments – presentation of works in forums – and synchronous moments – with conferences.

Those interested in presenting works may submit in the modalities ARTICLES (6 to 8 pages) and ABSTRACTS with PODCASTS. Registration and submission of papers will take place according to the following calendar:

- Registration with submission of proposals: from 01 to 08/31/2023.
- Registration without sending proposals: from 08/01/2023 to 11/17/2023.

Proposals, in Portuguese, Spanish or English, must fit one of the following thematic tracks:

- Language and Technology,
- Translation and Technology,
- Education and Technology,
- Disclosure and documentation of Free Software,
- Hypertext,

- Journalism on the Internet,
- Multiliteracies,
- Virtual Communities,
- Digital inclusion,
- Free Culture,
- Textual Production on Computer,
- Interdisciplinary in Human Sciences.

Attention: Each Author CAN participate in the authorship of ONLY one work and in co-authorship in ONLY two proposals (ARTICLES or PODCASTS), adding up to three in total.

In order to send proposals, you must REGISTER on the website of the Journal of the Congress (OJS), here. REGISTRATION for the XVI CILTec – Online must be completed on the Congress website, within the stipulated period. Further details are available on the event's official website menu.

Formatting models (article and podcast summary) can be accessed in the “SUBMISSÕES”.

Follow the information on our social networks, on Facebook and Instagram.

IMPORTANT: We do not charge any fees for registration or participation.

Best regards,
